

I implore you to reconsider the current deregulatory stance currently being pursued by your administration. I humbly suggest that you are destroying many of the last vestiges of democracy that are left in this country. Then again, this may be your intent. Please reconsider your decisions as millions of voices do not want to be silenced by your greed.